

CLEVELAND, OHIO. The Cleveland Transit System's new AIRPORTER — a high-speed, specially designed rapid transit car, for service to Cleveland Hopkins International Airport. The air-conditioned AIRPORTERS have shiny, stainless steel exteriors, fluorescent lighting, special luggage racks and travel at speeds up to 60 miles an hour. Cleveland is the only city in the country planning high speed Rapid Transit service from the heart of the city and urban areas directly to its principal airport.